American Subcontractors Association - Midwest Council
"Meet the General Contractors" Expo on January 23

(St. Louis, MO, Dec. XX, 2012) – The American Subcontractors Association (ASA) - Midwest Council is set to host its annual "Meet the General Contractors" Expo on Jan. 23, 2013 at the St. Charles Convention Center in St. Charles, MO. The yearly event gives area subcontractors and construction professionals the opportunity for valuable face-to-face time with some of the St. Louis region's top general contractors.

ASA members and non-members are welcome to attend. Reservations are required. The cost to attend is $65 for ASA members and $95 for non-members. The cost includes appetizers and an open bar. The expo will be open 3:30-5 p.m. for ASA members only, and 5-7:30 p.m. for all other attendees.

Steve Giacin, president of Kaiser Electric and the ASA - Midwest Council, says the expo is invaluable to industry professionals looking to make new contacts and potentially increase sales for the coming year.

"We encourage anyone in the construction industry to attend. It is a fun, easy way to meet and greet new people and to cultivate viable business partnerships," said Giacin. "One of the main goals of the ASA - Midwest Council is to increase opportunities for success in the construction industry, and this is one of the ways our organization works to do that."
